Mardi Gras plans in advanced stage

Claiming lack of official status since Gov. Paul Johnson has not confirmed his appointment, H. H. Shattuck, president, Port and Harbor Commission, walked out of Thursday's port meeting. The gesture came on the heels of an attempt to restrain such by Best 1 supervisor H.G. Dean who remarked: "It is a sad day when we let petty politics run our country."

Immediately following the action, Arlie Strain, commission vice president, attempted to carry business forward and voted with the remainder to go into secret session when Joseph V. Colson of Waveland moved to that effect.

During the hour and a quarter closed door meeting the commission re-informed by two attorneys and volunteer secretary, J. Norton Haas, heard from Supervisor Dean and later Bay St. Louis Mayor John Scalfide.

Appointed for a second term by Commission Council last fall as the city's representative, Shattuck's resignation was subject to confirmation by the council. This commission has been working on a new county port law since their officers' last session. Shattuck has been questioned on eligibility to continue as president of the harbor commission.

Upon re-opening proceedings to the public, Commissioner Edward Scalfide moved that Mayor Scalfide's remarks made in executive session, which he authorized to be made public, be made part of the minutes. Passed unanimously after being seconded by Best 2 commissioner C. I. A. G. Graham, the following statement was read:

"Mayor Scalfide appeared before the commission on behalf of the Commission Council of the City of Bay St. Louis. He reported that the Commission Council had recommended Mr. H. H. Shattuck to the governor for re-appointment but that the governor has not as of this date taken any action on the appointment. The mayor further commended Mr. Shattuck for his dedication to duty and advised that the council was very proud to have recommended him for re-appointment as the city's representative to the Port and Harbor Commission. Police to check all building

Illegal construction is to be checked by police officials under a resolution adopted by City Commission Council last week. A letter from J. Hugh Miller, chairman, board of adjustment, sparked new construction control measures. Miller reported several violations of building regulations had been observed within the city as well as several instances of construction taking place before a permit had been obtained. He requested commissioners to instruct law enforcement agencies to check all such illegal building and institute corrective measures.

Mayor Scalfide then issued the following statement: "The council urges and requests all contractors, builders and property owners to obtain a permit for any additions and/or alterations or other form of construction work the value of which will be in excess of $50. Permits are a definite requirement if we are to enforce our new zoning regulations."

Commissioners were also instructed to see that heads of departments in addition to city police check on all construction. Persons obtaining permits were reminded that such should be on display at all times during work on the project.

... as teen set celebrated yacht club's first junior mock Carnival Ball.

With the rapid approach of Mardi Gras on March 2, work is being pushed to completion on three of the major features which will occupy the local scene at this season—the 4th annual Denizens of the Deep Ball at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, St. Joseph Carnival Club's 32nd annual ball and the Krewe of Chicopulus' parade Mardi Gras Day for the younger set.

In addition, the Veterans Civic Organization, which customarily stages the Negro parade and attendant dances, is busy preparing these necesses although details are not yet available. The court already has been chosen for the Denizens' mock Carnival event which will get under way with a social hour from 8 to 9 p.m. this Friday at the yacht club. King Neptune IV will reign and the queen will be chosen from among five maids the night of the ball by the holder of the lucky gem. Reservations are limited to 100 couples and newcomer non-members may be invited by members.

To sign minimum compliance writ

The county school board voted Saturday to sign the assurance of compliance with federal government, now required under the "civil rights" law for school lunchroom money and directed its attorney to prepare a plan for desegregation to accompany compliance.

"It is not necessary to receive federal funds to have a desegregation order issued on the school program," said J. Phillips, board attorney, advised trustees in explaining their compliance.

The vote was 4-0. Best 1 Trustee Charles McPherson being dissenting to allness. The motion was by Eric Larsen of Best 4, seconded by Luis Nacase of Best 3.

Engineers report approved

Engineering costs on two preliminary phases accounted for $6,000 of the amount approved for payment to Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., of Jackson, by Port and Harbor Commissioners, Thursday. An additional $200 was also approved, this latter related to the Jordan River bridge leasing.

When vice president Arlie Strain presiding, commissioners also received an engineers' report on progress to date and passed a motion postponing final reports on Phase B until May 1.

Compromise price reached

A compromise figure of $35,000 has been reached in negotiations between the city and the Louisville and Nashville Railroad for purchase of the railway's sand pit on Webb Street for a lagoon for Bay St. Louis' new sewer system. Original appraisal was $79,000. An independent appraisal conducted by the city estimated the value at $47,000.

Clean-up, paving and filling campaign talk received attention in City Hall Monday when Mayor John Scalfide and his commissioners agreed to support efforts of Bay-Waveland Garden Club, Mrs. Ben Mills and Mrs. Wanda Orie representing garden club members made a spirited two-point appeal directed primarily towards cleaning up the city and secondly to maintaining the status quo once achieved.

In response to questions on certain buildings within city limits, Mayor Scalfide said that Bay St. Louis will be adopting a building and housing code in the next 60 days or so that will provide measures to correct bad structures. "All buildings must be made safe for habitation" said the mayor. The code will permit action to be taken in the case of non-compliance by building owners.

Hawketts star guests from Pass

The Hancock County High School basketball team, coached by Coach Stanley, will have a special game at the Hancock North Central gym. Coach Stanley's girls had no real problems from the visiting Hawketts. They announced their way as victory in one of their games. The team carried an unusually heavy load for the season, winning 17 games, 57 points. Coach Stanley was high for Hancock with 19.

Lose president

(Cont. from Page 1.) Hancock mayor urged Mr. Shattuck to continue to serve in his position until action is taken by the Governor and the council. He feels that the governor will confirm Mr. Shattuck's appointment in the very near future. Prior to the executive session, Dean had addressed the board in a similar manner, stopping Shattuck in his departure to say, "Before you leave I would like to say something on behalf of the board of supervisors. The board was on record at their last meeting to ask the governor to confirm your appointment made by the city. We know you have done a wonderful job and we hope to see you take this action although we can see your point, it is a sad day when we let petty politics run our county. The Port and Harbor Commission has advanced under your (Shattuck's) guidance and I think you have done a wonderful job and add my personal thanks for your efforts."

It was at this point Shattuck departed and although several trustees left the room soon afterwards in a last ditch attempt to have him return, the corridors of the Courthouse were empty. The final words of the evening on the matter were contained in a unanimously adopted resolution prepared in part during the executive session. Presented by Schambach, with Graham seconding, the resolution read, "Be it resolved that in view of the opinion rendered by our attorneys Michael D. Haas and Gerald C. Gex, citing section 7605 - 02 of the Recompiled Mississippi Code Annotated (1942) which provides in part as follows: 'The members of such County Port Authority... shall hold office for a term of four (4) years from the date of their appointment and qualification and until their successors are appointed and qualify in their stead...' that Mr. H.H. Shattuck is a duly qualified and legal member of this Commission, that Mr. Shattuck be requested to continue in the discharge of his duties as a member and president of this Commission."

County principals...

(Cont. from Page 1.) Actions are now being taken for that position. Arthur Nectate was questioned closely by trustees on December and January transportation bills which were presented for approval at the Saturday session. He noted that four roads in the north county area were now under construction and he has been forced to detour the Duminy Line Road because of the muddy conditions there. Trustees commented buses might be getting only four miles to the gallon of gas with some of the routes traversed. The transportation supervisor asked for the board's help in getting local auto parts dealers to stock items needed for the buses so that he would not have to buy from New Orleans and Gulfport. He suggested dealers send representatives to the bus stop to check on parts used. Bills for the last two months were approved including the last payment on the bleachers at

...the game of the season. Earlier this week, Leakeville girls edged by Limberton 25-21.

Rousseaux...

(Cont. from Page 1.) graduated in 1906 from Millsaps College in Jackson where he was a member of Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity. During World War I he served as a chaplain with the U. S. Cavalry. Mr. Rousseaux served as pastor of many Methodist churches in the Louisiana-Mississippi area and after his retirement continued as a supply pastor.

He and his wife, the former Miss Pearl Weston of Logtown, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in December, 1959. Because of the long association of himself and his wife with the Logtown area, he was asked to give one of the prayers at the mass meeting at Logtown School in the fall of 1961 when announcement was made of the selection of this area for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration test site.

Besides the widow, survivors include two sons, Rev. John C. Rousseaux, Jr., of Dodson, La., Ralph A. Rousseaux of Slidell; two daughters, Mrs. Bettye DeVids of Harper Woods, Mich., and Mrs. Caro Zeller of Burns Flat, Okla.; six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

A prayer service took place at the home Sunday afternoon followed by religious rites at Waveland Methodist Church with Rev. Percy Byrnes, pastor, officiating. Assisting were Revs. Fred Campbell of New Orleans and H.J. Moore of Long Beach, retired Methodist pastor. A guard of honor from the Knights Templar gave the rose cross ceremony and there were Masonic rites at the graveside in Logtown Cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Michael DeVids, Asa Glen Rousseaux, Larry Weston, Homer Fritchie, Jr., Langston Williams and Clifton Penton. Serving as honorary pallbearers were Lamar Otis, Waldo Otis, Bill Chapman, Rudolph Penton, Gilbert Marshall, H.A. Westbrook, Henry Otis, Francis Henry, Homer Fritchie, Ellis Cuevas and Horatio Glyeans. 12 X 11

Construction of the new Pearlington School is to start simultaneously with work at Gulfview and Hancock North Central, Walter J. Phillips, board attorney, noted in reporting on the current status of the proposed bond issue. He said emphasis on Pearlington construction had raised questions by Mississippi Test Operations officials when they were requested to approve an extension in use of the Logtown School.

Legion Auxiliary hears president

Mrs. Clyde Craig, president, Bay St. Louis American Legion Auxiliary, attended a workshop of activities held Monday at Gulfport. Attended by 26 delegates, the gathering heard an address by Mrs. J.W. White, auxiliary department president, of Hattiesburg, and later discussed membership, child welfare, girl's state scholarship fund, poppy programs and radio.

Mrs. White also spoke to local membership at the Legion Home, Monday and amongst other items covering auxiliary membership programs stressed the need for members to write their congressman in connection with the closing of 31

Engineers...

(Cont. from Page 1.) The board of supervisors related to phase A and had been previously approved by the supervisors and $4,000 applying against phase C, was authorized by resolution. Phase A comprises preliminary planning reports, phase B, the master development plan, and phase C, the feasibility analysis. There being sufficient funds on hand all monies are to be paid out of the Port and Harbor account. Upon the request of Baker representatives the Housing and Home Finance Agency loan application status was discussed and attorney Gerald C. Gex reported that final signatures are still pending. Joseph V. Colson was elected acting secretary retroactive to last November.

Volunteers aid Bay police job

"Where'd all the law come from?" queried a bystander at a recent parade.

The same question has been repeated frequently since early last September when over a crowd gathered, a corresponding number of city policemen in neat blue uniform appeared as if produced by a genie.

It's really no great mystery. The truck was turned by 11 volunteers sworn in as Bay St. Louis special police, who among other feats, managed to clear Tiger Stadium parking lot of probably the largest number of cars assembled here in one area following Bay High School's homecoming game, in a record 19 minutes.

The group, working with Chief Lethon Garriga and regular officers, is headed by Special Chief Bert Stiefel and has already amassed a total of over 300 man hours on a purely voluntary basis, while each holds down a full time job. These include heading a wholesale beverage firm, insurance salesman, two bank tellers, a telephone company employe, two service station owners, toll bridge collector, MTO worker, deputy sheriff and a warehouse man.

Stiefel, assistant chief Robert Coleman and officers Joseph Bernand, Joseph Kersanac, Victor Frankiewicz, Gus Aime, Jimmy Favre, Andre Arceneaux, Billy Ireland, James Ginn and Gordon A. Switzer primarily assisted in directing traffic at football and basketball games and parades.

They have received complete training in all forms of police work including use of firearms, walkie-talkies, traffic and crowd control and now join regular officers in patrol car duty. More classes are planned and the group will be enlarged as the population increases.

Flying objects in new game preserve not NYO rockets

Quail leads the list of game now propagating within the 20 square miles buffer zone of Mississippi Test Operations. Direct of buildings or people are within in taking advantage of the situation and conservationists are now concerned about an ultimate overstocking situation.

After a meeting called by State Rep. Walker Phillips, James Carraway, director, state game and fish commission, reported that a fact finding team would conduct a survey in the area and ascertain the feasibility of establishing a game preserve.

To include NASA and timber leased lands, hunting seasons and bag limits from the area would be controlled by the commission. Center of the 150,000 acre preserve, the actual fenced missile test site would be used as a game propagation area.

Carraway said that while protection of the law would be afforded game, sportsmen of the state would receive full privileges under state law. Jurisdiction over the area, similar to the huge Red Creek Preserve would be in the hands of the state game and fish commission.

Kleinhaus wins bowling classic

Bay St. Louis captured one of the most first place prizes in the South coast when it won the Gulf Coast men's bowling tournament which wound up Sunday at Tower Lane.

Bay High thrills tourney crowd

Top-seeded Harrison Central collected first position in the District 8 sub-district 1, AA basketball round-off by defeating Bay High in a 61-60 overtime thriller Saturday night in the Red Kelsie's home gym. In the consolation game St. Stanislaus defeated Biloxi 74-55 to top third slot.

The final game of the tournament turned into a near-upset as Bay High put on a last quarter rally that shook Harrison to the ropes of their spectators. The Rebels had been leading and leading during most of the hour, enjoying quarter markers of 11-7, 23-24 and 41-32. With four minutes on the clock and the score at 50-38 for Harrison, Bay High's big man, Steve Merritt, let the Thunder out of the tank to tie the Rebels 54-54 at the end of regulation play. During the three-minute overtime period, BHS was able to pull ahead at Harrison by two points in the early seconds, but the cats ran out of gas again and were behind by the single point, as the home boys.

Stanislaus had no sweat in overwhelming Biloxi for consolation honors. The Rockets chews had their work under the Indians' scruffy line-ups for all the game except a brief period during the second quarter. With run-and-gun leads of 11-0, 29-21 and 50-25 the Rockets rolled out a resounding victory.

First-billed Harrison drew a bye for the first round of the sub-district series, then edged by St. Stanislaus 61-58 in the semi-finals. Bay High had little trouble with their first two opponents, downing Long Beach 60-43 in the opener Thursday night and chewing up Biloxi 65-56 on Friday. The Rockets' first battle was another one-point crowd stunner as St. Stanislaus took Moss Point 77-71. Biloxi advanced to the semi-final heading at the hands of Bay High by licking Snow 55-49 Thursday.

The Gulfport Commodores earned first place in the sub-district 2 run-off at Poplarville Saturday night, putting on a fourth quarter blast which brought them from behind to take the Picaune Maroon Tide 47-34. In the consolation match, Petal and Poplarville decided the third and fourth position with Petal's Panthers defeating the Hornets 50-41.

The District 8 AA play-off was scheduled to begin last night at Gulfport, and will run through Saturday. Paired first round games in the boys' bracket were Harrison Central vs. Poplarville, Picaune vs. St. Stanislaus, Gulfport vs. Biloxi, and Bay High vs. Biloxi. The Bay High-Petal tilt was set for 6:20 tonight with St. Stanislaus and Picaune mixing it up at 7:40.

District Openers for girls' teams series will see Harrison Central vs. Snow, George County vs. Petal, Poplarville vs. Bay High, and St. Joseph vs. Brooklyn Agricultural. The Bay High girls were to meet Poplarville last night while St. Joseph plays Brooklyn today at 7 p.m. in the Gulfport gym.
